

PRESS RELEASE: WOA Together

WOA opens access in response to Covid-19 crisis

In response to the ongoing global situation with Covid-19, WOA has been looking at what contribution we can make to the battle we all face.

For the duration of crisis, WOA will open its unique sharing platform to all, offering completely free Premium access to everyone, corporate or individual, in the Open Account world, wherever you are on the planet.

Use of the platform provides the opportunity to connect, communicate and share information, ideas and suggestions that WOA believes can help us all sustain and rebuild trade and economies.

As premium WOA members, companies and professionals in the industry can without limitation collaborate through WOA Search and WOA Forum:

- offer support and assistance to peer companies worldwide
- post questions (and answers!) to leverage experience from the community in matters related to these exceptional market circumstances
- cooperate with the publication of joint position statements
- share best practices and experiences
- make use of free web-meetings (and take initiatives to develop web-meetings on specific topics) to share information and best practices
- offer valuable knowledge resources to investors/ policy makers/ market players about our working capital solutions: how these can and should be used as tool for reconstruction of the disrupted Supply Chains, provide oxygen to international trade, support SMEs with working capital and support economic recovery and jobs.

WOA's IT partners Procurios have joined in this initiative, and as their contribution have set up an App for us to make these interactions even easier for all.

There are no pre-conditions - we do this in a spirit of community. The offer is also open to any representative organisation to share this with their memberships. Because this isn't about competition, this is about cooperation in a desperate time of need.

Free profile registrations can be done on the website: <https://woa.community>.

Ends 30 03 2020
